

Dalo Lindén

We have met and merged through a unique spirit of entrepreneurship

Daloplast AB and Lindén International AB are two strong brands and companies that come from the same creative business region in the south of Sweden. Both companies manufacture high quality products for homes, kitchens and bathrooms. Daloplast is specialised in plastic products of high quality while Lindén is a leading brand for stainless steel kitchen products. After years of different and prosperous co-operations we have decided to merge and form the houseware group Dalolindén together.

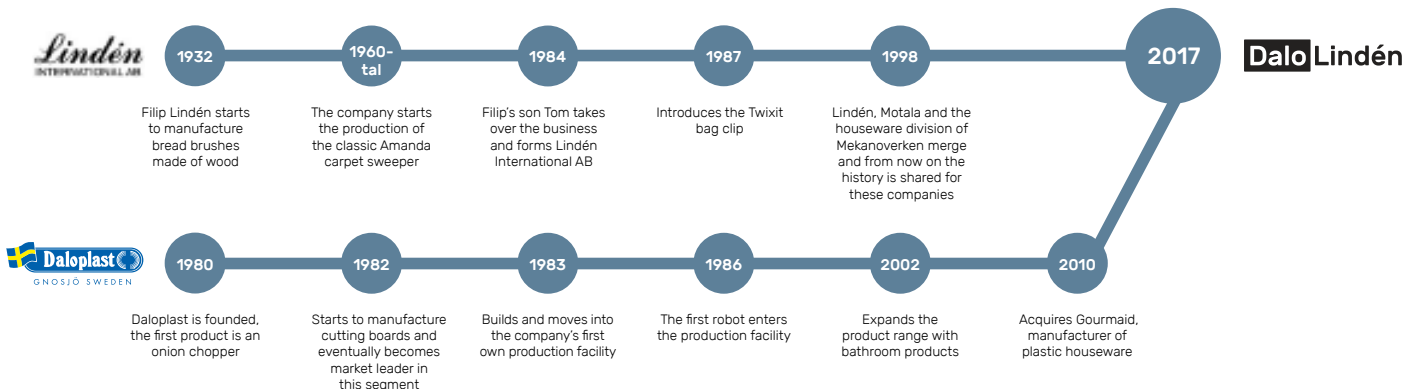

Two classic product lines become one range

Both Lindén and Daloplast have kept their entire production in Sweden. Daloplast is based in Gnosjö and Lindén in Värnamo and Motala. Only three miles separate us and apart from the geographic closeness we are linked by a unique entrepreneur spirit that is a famous part of this region's history and heritage. We are two modern companies that have put a lot of effort and resources into research and quality. We meet consumer needs and on a daily basis our products solve small problems in different homes. This approach has spawned a series of classic products that have made life easier and more fun for millions of people all over the world. Cutting boards, potato peelers and bag clips that can be found in both ordinary homes and in Guide Michelin restaurants.

More locally produced products and many great advantages

By keeping the production in Sweden, we can maintain our well-known knowledges and competences. The merger of the two companies also comes with a few unique large-scale benefits. Noticeable are more sustainable transports, a combined and more efficient storage system and quicker deliveries. We will also have a broader perspective within the group and can specialize even more within our different fields of expertise. Cutting-edge knowledge in plastic and steel can merge and in the long run this will lead us to a series of new inventions and smart product solutions. This merger allows us to further cherish our combined heritage and break new ground together.
